

Youth Advisor (9th – 12th Grade)

Reports to: Director of Family Ministries

Directly Supervises: Program Volunteers

Status: 5 hours per week, 40 weeks per year (10 month position)

Annual Salary: $4,300

Start Date: Mid - August 2020

Age requirement: 25 years or older

Job Summary: The Youth Advisor is responsible for the implementation of a religious education program for and with youth that fosters and promotes Unitarian Universalist values, youth empowerment, spiritual growth, social justice, lifelong friendships and community engagement. This includes programming at the All Church Retreat. A religious educator who does not have all the necessary expertise and experience may still be considered and would be supported for growth through on-the-job training, continuing education, and leadership development.

Our ideal candidate will have:

- Experience with organization, coordination and implementation of educational programs for youth, ideally in UU settings
- Familiarity with, and excitement about, a youth empowerment model
- Knowledge of age-appropriate content and instructional practices
- Excellent written and oral communication skills; facility with media and technology including digital meeting platforms
- A sense of humor and capacity for joy and play.
- Experience with or knowledge of Unitarian Universalism
- Education or experience in teaching, and/or youth programming

Essential Functions:

Program Development and Support:

- Organize high quality Sunday morning programming for high school age youth (YRUU) in alignment with UUCM's and Religious Exploration Program's vision, mission, and goals, including facilitation of Bridging program for high school seniors as needed.
- Co-creates with youth programming which engages the imagination, develops spiritual and ethical resources, enhances knowledge of the world's religious landscape, and cultivates identity as Unitarian Universalist
- Integrate social justice opportunities for youth, and families into programming, in collaboration with the Director of Family Ministries

Administration and Leadership:

- Work with RE staff and volunteers to maintain religious education resources, including RE supplies and the RE library
- Ensure the RE space is attractive, safe, and reflects our values.
- Participate in appropriate RE staff meetings and work with the Youth Coordinator in joint middle school and YRUU projects and programs.

Core Competencies

- Teamwork: Collaborates and communicates clearly and effectively with others; understands that staff teams are interdependent; creates a climate in which people want to do their best; shares ownership and visibility; takes an interest in the health and vitality of the congregation as a whole.
- Hospitality: Is a welcoming presence for members, friends, and visitors to the congregation; includes the newcomer into the life of the community; reaches out with care and compassion.
- Creativity: Engages in fresh thinking; willing to experiment and see failure as part of the process; approaches challenges from multiple angles; inspires creativity in others.
- Vision: Articulates a compelling and mission-driven purpose for the Religious Exploration program; inspires others to invest in the mission of the program.
- Integrity: Is widely trusted, direct, and truthful; maintains appropriate confidences; adheres to a set of core values that are in alignment with Unitarian Universalist principles, and lives in accordance with those values; abides by professional codes of conduct.
- Self-Awareness: Is conscious of their own reactions to situations and systems; understands unconscious bias; is committed to multicultural learning and anti-oppression work; cultivates personal spiritual growth; has a realistic understanding of their own gifts and challenges.
- Discipline: Follows through on commitments; self-motivated; sets and meets deadlines; establishes priorities and delegates appropriately; manages time effectively; asks for support when needed.
- Problem-Solving: Uses a combination of experience, research, and intuition to explore solutions for difficult problems. Looks beyond the first answer; handles complexity and competing demands on resources with skill, diplomacy, and grace; considers the long-term consequences of decisions.
